

Electricity

You may use electricity during winter storage while working on your boat, but when your boat is unattended, all electrical cords must be disconnected.

Yard personnel will disconnect all electrical lines found connected when you are not working on your boat.

NO vessel can be plugged into electrical outlets while the boat is unattended.

If yard personnel have to unplug your boat, the second time you will be billed.